SCOPE

management revue is a peer-reviewed interdisciplinary European journal publishing both qualitative and quantitative work as well as purely theoretical papers that advance the study of management, organisation and industrial relations. The management revue publishes articles that contribute to theory from a number of disciplines, including business and public administration, organizational behavior, economics, sociology and psychology. Reviews of books relevant to management and organisation studies are a regular feature. Special issues offer insights into selected research topics by providing potentially controversial perspectives, new theoretical insights, valuable empirical analyses and brief reviews of key publications.

PEER REVIEW PROCESS

Manuscripts are subject to a double-blind review process coordinated by either a guest editor or by an editor of management revue. In addition to the (guest) editor the manuscript will be considered by at least two reviewers; particularly inappropriate submissions may be returned without formal review. Editorial decisions will be communicated to the author via the submission system. Taking and using the thoughts and writings of someone else’s work as one’s own is not only a problem of intellectual property rights but also a serious misdeed because plagiarism erodes the norms of scientific work. Our editors and reviewers have an obligation to act if concerns are raised about improper manuscripts. The editors will judge any case of plagiarism on its own merits. In case of clear cut plagiarism with dishonest intent the editors will inform the author. If authors do not supply satisfactory explanations, their institute and the author of the original work will be informed by the editors of management revue.
